Read the following text carefully, and then in your ANSWER BOOK, answer all the questions that follow.

The value of emeralds has been known for centuries and even in ancient times. The Aztecs in Mexico and the Incas in Peru held them in high regard. However, the oldest emeralds were found in Egypt, near the Red Sea. Many Egyptian pharaohs took emeralds from the mines there. The mines were actually known as 'Cleopatra's mines' because Cleopatra liked to wear the stones. People say she wore jewellery made from emeralds and decorated many ornaments with the jewel. Some also say that Cleopatra presented noble visitors with carved emerald sculptures that looked like the Queen.

The Ancient Egyptians believed that emeralds were not only beautiful but were also able to cure disease. Historians know that these emeralds were a lighter colour green than many emeralds found today, but they were highly valued in Ancient Egypt. There were many emeralds in these mines.

In later times, the Romans and the Turks took emeralds from these mines, so overall the 'Cleopatra mines' were in use for over 1,500 years! When these mines were found again in the early nineteenth century, there were no emeralds left. There are now no more emeralds left in Egypt, but the Ancient Egyptian era represents the beginning of the jewel's long history. Now, the majority of the world's emeralds can be found in Colombia.
